

Global Logistics Analyst

Global Supply Chain

Georg Jensen A/S is looking for a service-minded and structured Global Logistics Analyst to work in our beautiful HQ in Frederiksberg, Copenhagen. You will be a part of the Global Supply Chain team with focus on structure, entrepreneurship and with rich opportunity for professional development.

The role

One of your main tasks will be to manage and optimize our logistics and warehouse End-2-End footprint (ranging from global suppliers, our production- and warehouse facilities, to the end customers), in order to support our company's overall strategic goals.

You will play a key role in managing the daily logistics operations, identifying opportunities and optimizing our global transport footprint on inbound freight and outbound distribution channels. The potential for the role is great, and you will work with full attention and back up from the Supply Chain management team.

What we offer

We offer a challenging position in a global company with a strong brand and a culture built on a deep and rich heritage of Scandinavian design and craftsmanship. Our work environment is positive and dynamic with highly qualified colleagues in an international atmosphere. You will have great opportunity to influence the development and the nature of the position as well as create value for colleagues and business partners worldwide.

Your key responsibilities:

- Running the daily logistical operations (incl. air, ocean, road, courier and 3PL warehouse operations)
- 3PL Warehouse (Asia) order processing and driving periodical stocktaking management
- Keep a high level of information flow to stakeholders internally and externally
- Cater to internal organizational logistical needs (i.e. store openings, trade shows, etc.)
- Responsible for monthly follow up on supplier transport cost in cooperation with GJ finance dept.
- Manage cost optimization projects with logistical suppliers globally (Air/Sea/Road/3PL)
- Manage freight analyses and utilize these to identify opportunities and improvements End-to-end from a cost perspective.
- Monitor supplier performance and report KPI's to management
- Claim- and Carnet handling
- Implement distribution-, logistical processes and standards optimizations

Your profile

The ideal candidate is robust and curious to take on complex challenges.

You have a high energy level with a can-do attitude and are result oriented. The candidate has 7+ years of experience from a similar position, preferable from the same industry or the freight forwarding/shipping industry. It will be an advantage if you have a bachelor's degree in SCM.

The ideal candidate has the following competences

- Structured, proactive and has a high attention to detail
- Excellent communication and stakeholder management skills
- Thrives at taking charge and keeping a solid structure of the work tasks
- Ambitious, self-driven and service oriented
- Professional proficiency in English and Danish, both spoken and written
- Experience with ERP systems is required - specific skills and experience with Microsoft Dynamics AX 2012 skills is an advantage
- Strong Excel skills
